Hoosier National Forest

FS-R9-010
3/2015

The Indian and Celina Recreation Area is a tranquil get-away in the midst of the Hoosier National Forest. The recreation area contains Celina Lake (164 ac.) and Indian Lake (152 ac.). It is located 3 miles south of Interstate 64 off State Highway 37. The area offers camping, electric motor boating, fishing, and hiking. GPS Coordinates for the Area: 38°11'56.664"N, 86°35'53.951"W.

The area is operated by a concessionaire who leases the area from the US Forest Service.

Camping: Indian-Celina includes 63 individual sites divided into two loops. Each loop contains centralized water, flush toilets, hot showers, and a recharge table for electric boat motors. A selection of single or double, electric or non-electric sites are available in this shady campground. A maximum of 2 vehicles and 8 persons are allowed in single sites and 4 vehicles and 16 persons in double sites. Campsites must be occupied every night.

North Face Loop is open year-round, though there are no showers and only vault toilets between 10/16 and 4/14. South Slope Loop is open with reduced service until the end of deer season.

Reservation information is on the back page. Camping is otherwise available on a first come basis.

Day Use Fees: A $5/vehicle parking fee is charged between April 15 and October 15, except for campground occupants. An annual pass is available from the concessionaires at the gate for $35. All parking areas and the boat ramps are open year-round.

Picnic Sites: Picnic tables are provided at the Rickenbaugh House site.

Boating and Fishing: Indian and Celina Lakes are two of four fishing lakes along State Highway 37. Only electric motors are allowed to maintain the tranquility of the area. These lakes offer many miles of shoreline and coves for fishing for pan fish. Boat ramps are open year-round. An accessible fishing pier is available on Celina Lake.

Trails: Celina Interpretive Trail (1 mile): This trail is located behind the historic Rickenbaugh House. It is an easy 30 minute walk.

Two Lakes Loop Trail (16 miles): This National Recreation trail encircles both Indian and Celina Lakes and winds through many acres of natural and peaceful forests. Spur trails (marked in orange) access the main trail (marked in white) to offer short, day hikes. Much of this trail is on steep slopes, hiking half the trail could take 4-5 hours.

The Historic Rickenbaugh House and Cemetery: This sandstone block house was built in 1874. The house is open periodically during the summer months when staff is available. A separate information sheet on the history of the Rickenbaugh House is available.
